Table of Contents

Editorial ........................................................................................................................................ 11
Marcos Catalan

Papers

Procedural conventions and their contribution to democratizing the process: an empirical analysis ........................................................................................................................................... 13
Alexandre de Castro Catharina

The protection of personal data under the eyes of the “Big Brother”: the political interference of the NDPA amid the information age .................................................................................................................. 35
Diogo de Calasans Melo Andrade, Gabriela Maia Rebouças, Matheus de Lima Andrade

Perspectives of expansion of rights related to personality in an AI context from Free Guy ..... 55
Dirceu Pereira Siqueira, Fausto Santos de Morais, Lucimara Plaza Tena

Impact study of the risk society in the neighborhood: a society marked by environmental risks ... 75
Flávio Barboza Castro, Rogério Gesta Leal

The Roman Law and the Marxian-Engelsian critique of Law ................................................... 89
Igor Moraes Santos

Paladines of law and order: rise of neoconservativity and the brazilian Federal Police ........ 113
Jackson Silva Leal, Marcelo Bessa

The instrumentality of the reparatory action for social damages for the performance of community entities ........................................................................................................................................ 137
José Erick Gomes da Silva

Partial agency in feminist legal theory and its contribution to public policy in Brazil ........... 147
Luisa Moraes Abreu Ferreira

The right to public policies and health promotion for women’s development .......................... 171
Maria Eliane Alves Sousa

Application of the vulnerabilized group concept to migrant women: an intersectional perspective ........................................................................................................................................... 193
Maria Luiza Favacho Furlan, Raimundo Wilson Gama Raiol
War on drugs in Brazil and the Symbolically Generalized Communication Media: the improbability of power in the acceptance of drug policies ................................. 207

Diógenes Vicente Hassan Ribeiro, Douglas Cunha Hassan Ribeiro

Reviews

Plant revolution: plants have already invented our future – a review to think about law, society and technology from another kingdom ................................................................. 231

José Alexandre Ricciardi Sbizera

Theses and Dissertations

The Mediation Chamber of Porto Alegre/RS in perspective: impacts of consensus in the bureaucratic field, in the habitus of agents and in the redistribution of capital ................... 237

Ana Beatriz Getelina Souza